NEWS FROM ABROAD.

Lord Derby Interviewed on the Eastern Question.

GEN. TCHERNAYEFF ATTACKED BY TURKS.

Additional Particulars of the Capture of "Boss" Tweed.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, September 11.—Earl Derby to-day received two deputations of workmen's societies, and in reply to their addresses said the Government had been charged with indifference to the great crimes committed in Bulgaria. All that had been done in diplomatic matters and in sending a fleet to Besika Bay was done, if not before the outrages occurred, at any rate before they were known. He denied that the Government was in any sense responsible for the outbreaks of fanaticism among the Turkish population. He described the previous action of the Government, and said they had nothing to unsay of what they had said, and nothing to regret in what they had done. If the Turks believed all Europe desired to drive them back into Asia, they would break out in excesses prompted by revenge and despair. He believed the conviction that England desired fair play had done more than anything else to prevent the war from assuming the character of a religious war and to prevent the commission of atrocities in many provinces instead of in one. England held no exceptional position in consequence of the Crimean war, which at its outset was pushed mainly by the Emperor of the French.

Lord Derby said he believed it would be as much a mistake now as formerly to let the Turkish Empire take care of itself. The value of its territorial integrity was real and permanent. The last word on the Eastern question was, Who is to have Constantinople? Any attempt at partition would be the signal for a European war. But the relations between Turkey and her various subject races had been modified repeatedly, and they might be modified again. All arrangements for local self-government which had been made with Egypt, the Lebanon and Crete, had been settled with the concurrence of the guaranteeing powers, but he would never put his name to any scheme which he believed would not work. As to the future, the British Government was doing all in its power to secure an armistice and peace. The changes to be made must depend upon the concerted action of all Europe, and into the nature thereof he could not now enter. It was unjust to denounce a whole race for the faults of some. An endeavor to blot out Turkey would lead to a war in which the Bulgarian horrors would be greatly exceeded. It would drive the Turks into Asia, and still there would be many millions of Christians and Mohammedans living together, and not in Turkish Asia only. I do not think we could treat the question in any way that would more prejudice their position than if in a feeling of indignation against atrocities we hold language and display feelings against the whole Turkish Mohammedan races, which would excite feelings of mutual animosity between the two religions. Let me add a word of warning. Do not suppose, because we look upon these questions from a philanthropic point of view, all foreign powers and foreign politicians do the same, and as a sequel to this I would ask you not to ask your Government to do that which is impossible, because if you adopt that course, you put it out of our power to do anything at all.

A number of the deputation asked Earl Derby what chance there was for the adoption of Midhat Pasha's constitutional reforms, to which his Lordship replied he did not know what were Midhat Pasha's proposals. He was aware that that statesman had very liberal ideas about reforming the Ottoman administration, but was not aware of the character of his project. Even if he knew it he would not be prepared to say anything about it without some previous examination and study.

The Times to-day, in an editorial article on the Eastern question, says the temper of Europe is swiftly undergoing a menacing change. More countries than Russia might easily pass beyond the control of statesmen. The very danger of which Earl Derby warned Turkey threatens to become a reality. He said with startling force that a renewal of the outrages would be more disastrous to the Porte than the loss of a battle. If the statements regarding the atrocities in Servia prove true, it may matter little whether they should afterwards prove exaggerations. The Russian people seem to be approaching a state of popular excitement when even a false report will make peace an impossibility. Every day of warfare adds to the likelihood that the strife may overflow its present limits. There are diplomatic signs which might warn Turkey's rulers how narrow is the foothold on which they must pick their way. They will find it less easy than it has been in former times to keep Turkey safe by exciting the jealousies of rival powers. If they display their wonted astuteness they will seize any expedient that offers a chance of peace.

SPAIN.

MADRID, September 11.—The following are additional particulars of the arrest of William M. Tweed: Captain General Jovellar at Havana received intelligence that Tweed had disembarked at Santiago de Cuba, and notified the authorities there. Before the latter could take action Tweed embarked on the sailing vessel Carmen, bound to Vigo. Captain General Jovellar telegraphed to the Madrid Government, which, fearing the Carmen might go to some other port, requested the authorities at all Spanish ports to examine the persons on board all vessels named Carmen. There are twelve Spanish vessels of that name. A portait of Tweed being indispensable, the Spanish authorities obtained and made copies of a caricature in an American journal representing him as beating a child, supposed to typify American justice. This caricature led the Spanish authorities and reporters of Spanish papers to believe Tweed had been kidnapping children. Hence in the first official announcement received of the arrest of Twid, Autelemi, a supposed telegraphic corruption of "Tweed, American," it was stated he had been arrested for kidnapping American children. Tweed is confined on the Isle of Saint Simon, in Vigo bay, where he is undergoing quarantine, strictly watched by Custom House guards. At the expiration of his quarantine he will be surrendered to the United States representative. As there are no direct steamers between Spain and North America, Tweed will be sent to Cuba, and from thence to New York.

MADRID, September 11.—An inquiry has been ordered into the conduct of the Sub-Prefect of Port Mahon, against whom complaints have been made of religious intolerance. He will be prosecuted should it prove he has violated the religious tolerance fixed by the constitution.

TURKEY.

BELGRADE, September 11.—Though the accounts of some of the Turkish outrages are too well established to be doubted, a fair idea of the proceedings of the Turkish force is not to be gathered from the fearful tales so carefully collected. An English gentleman who passed through the Servian district lately visited by the Turks reports he had many opportunities of talking with the people, whose homes had been altogether in the hands of the enemy, and he met with not a single case of gross outrage.

Before the publication of the order rendering soldiers mutilating themselves liable to the penalty of death or imprisonment for life many Servians had already been arrested for that offense. On one occasion as many as forty were executed. There is a hospital, it is said, in which more than half the patients are of this class.

LONDON, September 11.—A dispatch from Belgrade of the 11th says a banquet was given at the Russian Consulate this evening in honor of the name-day of Emperor Alexander. Prince Milan, proposing the health of the Emperor of Russia, said the Emperor was Servia's great friend and protector, and he thanked the Russian people for their sympathy and aid.

Councillor Kartsoff, Russian Consul General at Belgrade, received a delegation previous to the banquet. In a speech acknowledging their congratulations he said henceforth Russia and Servia were united.

An attack on Gen. Tchernayeff began this morning, and still continues.

SOUTH AMERICA.

NEW YORK, September 11.—The Star and Herald of Panama, just received, says an attack was made on the 20th of August on the residence of ex-President Pardo, of Peru, at Lima, and before the disturbance was quelled the troops fired on the mob, killing four persons and wounding several others. The Union Club house, whose members are supposed to be partisans of the ex-President, was wrecked. Previous to these attacks the mob sacked the store of Wrexel, DeGrass & Co., taking from it arms valued at 12,000 soles.

A terific shock of earthquake was felt in Lima and Callas at about 1:20 A. M. on the 19th inst. Beyond creating great alarm and cracking a few walls, no injury was done.

The United States of Colombia have been declared in a state of siege. Disruption of the country is feared. The army is to be raised to 20,000 men.

THE INDIAN WAR.

A Government Courier from Fort Laramie Driven Back—Supplies for Gen. Crook's Command—The Peace Commissioners Awaiting Developments.

CHEYENNE, WY., September 11.—Advices from the telegraph camp near Hot creek, this morning, say the Indians drove back a Government courier who left Fort Laramie with dispatches for Gen. Crook. He will make another start from Hot creek this morning.

RED CLOUD AGENCY, NEB., September 10, VIA FORT LARAMIE, September 11—This morning a supply train of about thirty wagons left this agency, escorted by three companies of the Fourth Artillery equipped as infantry, for Custer City, a distance of eighty miles. The supplies are for Crook's command, which it is reported will be there on the 14th inst.

For two days past the Indian Commission has been quietly awaiting developments. It is hoped Red Cloud will be prepared to make some reply to-morrow to the propositions made by the commission on the 7th. A number of Indians from the Spotted Tail agency came in yesterday. It is said the Indians of this agency are waiting for Spotted Tail, and that whatever he favors they will do.

THE SIOUX EXPEDITION.

The Troops for the New Posts Going Into Winter Quarters—The Campaign Ended for the Season—Navigation on the Yellowstone Suspended—Supplies Becoming Scarce—Crook's Fruitless Chase.

ST. PAUL, September 11.—A Pioneer Press special, dated Sioux Expedition, Camp at the mouth of Glendiv creek, September 5th, via Bismarck, D. T., September 11, says the recent order of Gen. Sheridan designating the Fifth Infantry and the battalion of the Twenty-second as the garrison of the new post, and directing these troops to put themselves in quarters for the winter, has practically put an end to the campaign for the season as far as the Dakota column is concerned. The season is so far advanced that with the utmost industry the troops will hardly have time to shelter themselves before severe weather, and consequently the organizations designated to remain have been detached from the marching column and set at work. The navigation of the Yellowstone has suddenly closed by the rapid falling of the water, and the supplies for the new post, instead of being conveyed to their destination by steamer, must be hauled in wagons from Fort Buford. The question of subsistence for the troops who are to remain has become so grave that all supplies brought up for the active column must be devoted to the use of the cantonment in order to provide against danger of actual suffering. Consequently our small army has to be sent home.

Gen. Crook has been heard from under date of the 2d inst. He has followed the trail to the Little Missouri without finding Indians. The trail is found to split, showing that the parties have diverged in several directions. Gen. Crook thinks the southern band may have moved backward towards the mountains, and he is somewhat apprehensive for his wagon train. It is expected that he will move in that direction with his command.

General Sherman's Opinion on the Campaign.

LEAVENWORTH, KS., September 11.—General Sherman and Secretary Cameron arrived here this morning, and are now at Fort Leavenworth. General Sherman stated this afternoon that the Indian troubles would all be settled up this winter by whipping the Indians into a lasting peace. It is probable a new department will be organized in the northwest, with General Miles in command.

WASHINGTON TOPICS.

The following order regarding the purchase of silver bullion for coinage has been issued from the Treasury:

Flood in the Indian Country.

A dispatch from Indian Agent Cravens, at Cheyenne, received at the Indian Bureau, states that all the buildings at the agency except three have been swept away by a flood, and that all the records and papers are gone. The agent says he cannot wait for bids, and asks if he shall employ labor and move to some safer place.

The Philadelphia Grand Jury on Saturday's Fire.

PHILADELPHIA, September 11.—In view of the fact that the mere accident of the wind in a favorable direction was all that saved the Centennial buildings and contents from at least partial destruction, and crowds of visitors from deadly peril, when the shanty town was burned on Saturday afternoon, the Grand Jury in the Court of Quarter Sessions this morning made a special presentment, setting forth that large numbers of frame structures have been erected in the immediate vicinity of the Exposition and in direct violation of the act of Assembly, and further, the said structures are largely occupied by depraved characters, and the exhibitions maintained in many of the buildings are derogatory to the morals of the community, more especially to the individuals visiting here from other States. The presentment concludes as follows: "Your Grand Jury, in view of the very recent serious conflagration in the neighborhood to which we here call your attention, and the actual jeopardy in which the main exhibition was placed, would ask that means be taken as soon as practicable to have the above public nuisance closed and removed, or a more serious lesson be taught to the city for their negligence in the vigorous enforcement of the laws for the precaution of the lives and properties of their citizens."

Hell Gate.

NEW YORK, September 11.—The work of charging with explosives the columns that uphold the roof of Hell Gate was begun this morning, and it is expected that 1,500 pounds of explosive material will be stowed away in the holes drilled for it before night. Orders were given to have 20,000 pounds of cartridges at the wharf this morning, so that the work having been commenced it can be carried on without cessation. The day for the grand explosion has not yet been definitely settled.

The Republicans Victorious at all Points—Great Gains in Nearly Every Town—The Congressional Delegation Solidly Republican.

A CLEAN SWEEP FOR HAYES AND WHEELER.

The Legislature Very Largely Republican—Every Representative Candidate on that Side Elected—Our Party Sure of a Two-thirds Majority on Joint Ballot.

The Majority in the State About 12,000.

Special to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

AUGUSTA, ME., September 11, 1876.

We have won a magnificent victory. We have carried all the Congressional districts, and I think every county in the State.

J. G. BLAINE.

PORTLAND, ME., September 11.—The Portland vote is the largest ever thrown. Dearing gives 439 for each candidate, against last year Republican 344, and Democratic 415, a Republican gain of 71.

Sandford—Conner, 360; Talbot, 322, a Democratic majority of 62, against last year Republican 161 and Democratic 211, a Democratic majority of 50. Reed runs but five behind the ticket there.

Scarboro—56 Republican gain, with Reed four behind. These returns indicate that Reed is elected to Congress from the First district, despite the Republican bolt, by a handsome majority. Ten towns give Conner 4,625 and Talbot 3,487, a majority of 1,138, against last year Conner 3,631 and Roberts 3,128, a majority of 503, a Republican gain of 635. This does not include Portland, but takes in Augusta and Rockland.

Portland gives Conner, Rep., 3,380, and Talbot, Dem., 2,824, a Republican majority of 556. Last year—Republican 2,499, Democratic 2,606, and scattering 4, a Democratic majority of 103, and a Republican gain of 659. In 1872 Portland gave the Republicans 2,822, and the Democrats 2,727, a Republican majority of 95.

ELLSWORTH, ME., September 11.—Hancock county returns show a Republican majority of 800. The county was exactly tie in 1875. Washington county indicates a Republican majority of 650, being a gain of 800 from 1875. The Knox county towns, in the Fifth Congressional District will give Mr. Hale nearly or quite 750 majority, and his majority in Waldo county will reach 600. Mr. Hale's majority must be almost or quite 3,000, being a gain of 600 on the vote of 1874. In 1874 the district gave exactly 100 majority on the vote for Governor. The Fifth is the Bangor district. The majorities are about the same everywhere as in 1872.

PORTLAND, September 11.—Sixty towns give Conner, Republican, 24,290, and Talbot 19,934. Last year—Conner 18,920, and Roberts, Democrat, 17,578, a net Republican gain of 3,014.

One hundred towns give Conner 30,769, and Talbot 25,132. Last year—Conner 23,963, and Roberts 22,165, a net Republican gain of 3,939.

BIDDEFORD, ME., September 11.—This city complete gives Talbot for Governor 76 majority and Goodwin for Congress 143 over Reed. Goodwin ran ahead of his ticket in every ward. The county ticket is fearfully mixed.

PORTLAND, September 11.—One hundred and eighty towns give Conner 44,761 and Talbot 35,007. Last year—Conner 34,440 and Roberts 31,504, a net Republican gain of 6,818.

Two hundred towns give Conner 48,740 and Talbot 38,467. Last year—Conner 37,722 and Roberts 34,410, a net Republican gain of 6,951.

PORTLAND, ME., September 11.—Two hundred towns give Conner 52,970 and Talbot 41,422. Last year—Conner 40,645 and Roberts 36,967, a Republican majority of 11,548. Republican net gain 7,847.

The towns to be heard from gave last year 327 Republican majority in an aggregate vote of 34,007. The total vote of the State will probably reach 134,000, and the Republican majority 12,000. Reed is elected in the First district. The Republicans were also elected in the other four districts by increased majorities. In Piscataquis county the Republicans elect every Representative to the Legislature the first time for many years. The Republicans will have a two-thirds majority in the House and probably twenty-seven out of thirty-one Senators.

Also, a resolution for the payment of $5,000 to Martin Joyce on account of certain sewer contracts. Quite unexpectedly, indeed, this resolution provoked a lengthy and somewhat spicy debate. Some of the members held that Mr. Joyce is not entitled to his money until the city has collected the assessments levied for the improvements which he had contracted for and executed. Others claimed that the city authorities had been derelict in collecting the assessments, and that it was unjust to Mr. Joyce to withhold from him that to which he is justly entitled. By the terms of the contract, which was read by the Chair, it is provided that the contractor shall receive his money after the assessments have been collected. On the passage of the resolution the ayes and nays were called with the following result: Ayes 35, nays 7. So the resolution was adopted.

Section 2—Any keeper of a drinking saloon, dramshop, beer saloon or garden, or other place of public resort, who shall employ a lewd woman, or any woman having the reputation of a prostitute, as carrier of beer or any other article, either in the day or night time, or to sing or dance in a lewd or indecent manner, or to permit any such lewd woman to act as bartender in any such house or place, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof be fined not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars.

Referred to the Police Committee.

Also, an ordinance in reference to pawnbrokers. It provides that the license shall be $200; that registers must be kept by the pawnbroker, open at all times to the inspection of the Mayor and Chief of Police, or any one authorized in writing by those officers to make such inspections. No pawnbroker shall loan money on any article to minors, nor to any person whatever between the hours of 8 P. M. and 7 A. M. He must also file with the Controller a statement of the street and number where he does business, and no one shall be allowed to act as agent for a pawnbroker at any other than the stated place of business. Referred to Police Committee.

THE P., V. & C. R. R. OBSTRUCTIONS.

Mr. NEEB also offered the following:

Resolved, That the Street Committee be and the same is hereby instructed to take immediate steps towards affording the residents and property holders on Josephine and Manor streets, South Side, relief from the encroachments of the P., V. & C. R. R. Passed.

Also, a resolution authorizing the Controller to issue a warrant for $5,000 in favor of C. J. Schultz, for the balance of assessment for the bridge over Sylvan avenue. Referred.

THE NATION TRUST COMPANY.

Mr. TORRENCE presented the following:

WHEREAS, The time heretofore fixed for the payment of the city's claim against the Nation Trust Company is about to expire; and,

WHEREAS, It has been made to appear that further time is necessary to enable the Nation Trust Company to negotiate the securities to enable them to meet said claim; therefore,

Resolved, That a period of thirty days from the fifteenth day of September be given for the purchase of said claim, and W. B. Negley and James Veech, Esqs., Trustees, be and are hereby requested to withhold proceedings on the securities in their hands for thirty days from and after the 15th of September.

Provided, however, that this resolution shall not take effect unless the county of Allegheny also agrees to give a like extension of thirty days for the settlement heretofore agreed upon.

Passed, with but little comment.

Select Council business was then taken up and all concurred in, except the resolution for a warrant for $5,000 for Martin Joyce, which failed for want of a legal majority.

A New Catalogue.

Widely known and justly popular as Nursery men and Florists, as are the old firm of J. R. & A. Murdoch, we doubt whether it is generally known how extensive their Nurseries and Green-houses are. They have just completed a comprehensive catalogue of trees, plants and flowers, for which they are prepared to fill orders promptly, every thing in its season. The pamphlet is elegantly illustrated. The enumeration of trees, plants, etc., in their several varieties is all that the farmer or gardener could desire, and quite too extensive for us to copy. We advise all who desire anything out of their very extensive stock to send for a catalogue, which will be sent to any address. Only think of fifty acres of the finest and healthiest Pear, Cherry, Apple, Plum and ornamental trees and shrubs to be found in the State, and of seventeen large green-houses filled with rosebuds, carnations, tuberoses, pansies, slephanotis, callas, bovardeas, lilliums, double primulas, camelia japonicas, poinsettes, &c., &c., and then of the assortment of furniture and findings for their growth, use and display. Of the probity and fair dealing character of J. R. & A. Murdoch, it would be surperfluous to speak. Send for a catalogue.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

The five-act drama of "Conscience" last night introduced Miss Kate Claxton, the regular amusement season and the principal members of the new stock company, and all received a right royal welcome. The audience was good in size and excellent in character, and toward the close of the performance manifested quite freely its approval of the acting upon which it sat in criticism. Miss Claxton, whose name at home, it might not be uninteresting to state, is Mrs. Dore Lyon, is one of the most beautiful women, in face and form, that ever graced the stage of the Opera House. She is a very clever actress and her clear and forcible impersonation of Constance Harewood was warmly applauded. In her is combined many of the most effective points, which are easily distinguishable, of Clara Morris, Rose Eytinge and Mrs. Jeffreys-Lewis. She appeared to best advantage during the interview with Judge Van Cort, in his library, when she offered to become his wife on condition that he would charge the jury favorably to her lover, who was on trial for the murder of her father. In this scene her exhibition of the mingled feelings of affection for the prisoner, fear of his death, and shame and mortification at her proffer of her own hand to one whom she had already refused, so wrought upon her auditors that they gave her, jointly with Mr. Harris, an enthusiastic call before the curtain. This was in the fourth act, and was the only time when there was a manifestation of real enthusiasm. What proved, doubtless, as attractive to the ladies as anything else, was the exquisite style in which Miss Claxton dressed. Mr. Gotthold made his appearance as Eustace Lawton, the villain of the play, in the first act. He is ever welcome in any role that he may choose to assume, and the tribute to his well won popularity was paid last night in the shape of a generous and prolonged collision of palms, which he acknowledged by repeated bows. His part he rendered well, and around his somnambulistic simulation in the closing scene of the play, and his awakening to the stern reality of the discovery of his crime, clustered all the deep interest of the culmination. Mr. F. Bock, who sustained the role of Judge Van Cort, is by all odds the best leading man the Opera House company has contained for years. He is a fine elocutionist, possesses a strong, full and well modulated voice, and is withal most an excellent actor. We congratulate Mr. Gotthold upon having secured such a valuable addition to his company. Mr. Willard had but little to do as David Delve, but that little was full of promise and we anticipate some enjoyable performances by him this season. Mr. Harris may appear to better advantage in some other character than Cyril Harewood, or he may improve on it. Mr. Stockwell is no stranger in Pittsburgh. He has improved greatly during his absence, and of course that adds to the heartiness of his welcome. A more dignified Dr. Mordaunt would improve his representation of that character. Mrs. E. B. Holmes is a vast and grateful improvement on the old woman of last winter. Mr. J. F. Dean is too well known to need any notice whatever. As far as the play is concerned we have only to say at present that it is very good, but that we have seen better ones.

John McClury and John Mackrell, officers; Messrs. James Stuart and Edwin Watson, doorkeepers; L. M. W. Steere, bill poster and distributor.

Among the improvements that have been made in the hall are the enlargement and rebuilding of the stage, the preparation of new scenery, the alteration and introduction of gas fixtures, new carpets throughout the house, additional doors, entrances and exits, and freshly painted walls.

Fred Marsden's play of "Clouds," with Effie Ellsler in the leading role, supported by the full strength of the company, will inaugurate the season. The management announce that it will be mounted in the most complete style.

The attractions already engaged, with negotiations pending for others, are John T. Raymond, Miss Anna Dickinson, W. J. Florence and wife, Miss Katie Putnam and company, Mrs. D. P. Powers and J. C. Trimble's Varieties.

Mr. Trimble advertises for this week, to continue doubtless for the balance of the season, a reduction of the prices of admission to 15, 35 and 50 cents. The bill will be just the same as ever, and the management will strive as earnestly to give at the decreased prices just as good a performance as though the old fees were maintained. The company this week is an excellent one.

Lecture.

The opening lecture of the session of 1876-7 of the Reformed Presbyterian Theological Seminary, will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Sloane this evening at 7½ o'clock in the church, corner Sandusky and North Diamond streets.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Robert Campbell, of Campbell & Robson, coke dealers, died on Sunday morning, at his residence on Second avenue, in the forty-ninth year of his age.

Mr. F. A. Krupp, son of the inventor of the famous Krupp gun, is stopping at the Monongahela House. He is accompanied by Dr. Schmidt, of Esson, Germany, J. Prosser, of New York, and Alfred Longsdon, of London. They have been examining our workshops.

Capt. Aull resigned his membership in Common Council yesterday, because he had "neither the time nor the inclination to longer perform the thankless duties of a Councilman." The Captain made an excellent member, always attentive to his duties, but it is evident that "the iron has entered his soul"—of ungrateful constituents.

KING, REED & CO.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1876.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 53f.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 103.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 110.

TILDEN has lost his Maine hold already.

BREAK the news tenderly to petite SAMUEL.

THE weather was unhealthy for TILDENITES in Maine yesterday.

THE Post dons a new suit of type, and is as neat and prosperous looking as need be. Its politics are not of the best, but we have a kind feeling for it, for all that.

HON. RUSSELL ERRETT retired, yesterday, from the editorship of the Commercial. The purpose is, to permit a more vigorous and pungent canvass, through the editorial columns of the Commercial than was possible with Mr. ERRETT in the two-fold position of candidate for Congress and editor.

THE report on oil, showing a little over 3,000,000 barrels in tank, exerted but slight influence in depressing the price. This shows the strength of the article, and the probable firmness of price in the future. The permanent upholding of rates, say to $3.50 per barrel, will greatly benefit this country.

THE recovery of TWEED, when once he has been returned to Cuba, will depend on whether TILDEN makes a demand for him. This demand will be of advantage, it is claimed, to the Republican party, on account of certain revelations which TWEED can make, if he choose. In view of this there is much curiosity to know just what that worthy will do.

THE display of incendiarism, which so seriously threatened the Centennial buildings at Philadelphia, has been made the subject of a special presentment by the Quarter Sessions Grand Jury. They recommend the closing and removing of the buildings in and around Shanty town, and the prevention, by this means, of outside conflagrations. It would be a terrible calamity were the great Centennial buildings to be burned.

THE strongest charge Governor SEYMOUR has to bring against the Republican party is that it seeks to lead the minds of the people away from the real issues of the day, which are those pertaining to reform. We have never been impressed with the thought that reform was ignored by the Republican party, but on the contrary, it has developed a more positive purpose in favor of reform than has the Democratic party. Its declarations and acts have been positive and clear on all subjects of interest to the people, and are to be trusted.

IT is reported that Colonel INGERSOLL will address the people on the wharf, between the Monongahela House and the river. There is a widespread anxiety to hear him, and all will gather who can possibly spare the time to do so. He has a good voice and can be heard by many. Of course, the best possible place should be selected, as the man is worthy the best opportunity that can be afforded him. He will do good to the cause and entertain the audience grandly. We ought to have a wigwam for speakers such as Colonel INGERSOLL.

THERE are many reasons, totally aside from those of a personal character, why TILDEN should be defeated. Aside from his uncertain record as a financier, we have him simply as representing the Democratic party. At the outset the claim was made for him that he controlled his party; but events have since proven that this is entirely incorrect, and that the party will be sure to govern him. Also, that the Southern wing of the Democracy governs it, and hence that the ex-rebels, through the party and TILDEN will govern the country. Also, his election would mean the utter defeat of civil service reform. The entire administration of that party in Congress was in exact violation of civil service reform. There were, in the House, a considerable number of officials, who had served many years, and were specially competent for their work. All were turned out. The same practice will turn out all Republican officials, of whatever standing.

THE Post is confused. Its new role of specially commending its particular friends on the Republican ticket, blind it as to other facts. It imagines that ridicule, as applied to CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS means abuse, rather than good natured raillery. The right idea is illustrated, rather moderately, 'tis true, by a Western paper: "At last CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS is on the track for an office, and will run for it as fast as his ancient and aristocratic legs will carry him. Probably he and Mr. BOWLES are happy, although in the nature of things their happiness must be short-lived. Mr. ADAMS, however, does not take the track with virgin shyness. For years past he has been a candidate, like other members of his family, for various offices, his race for which has been crowned with distinguished and unvarying misfortune, growing out of the fact that, while everybody thought he would fill the office admirably, everybody went and voted for the other man. His past experiences will be brought home to him afresh in this case, for several reasons."

WE give, but do not yet vouch for, a statement contained in the Chicago Inter-Ocean, to the effect that TWEED secured pay twice over for his services to the Chicago and Alton Railroad. The statement is as follows: "An examination of the books and records of the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis Railway Company discloses the fact that in the reorganization of the affairs of that company, in 1862, SAMUEL J. TILDEN had assigned to him twenty one-thousand-dollar bonds of the company, then worth par in the New York stock market, as a fee for services. The books further show that these bonds were delivered to Mr. TILDEN in April, 1863. The only explanation Mr. TILDEN has offered in regard to the $20,000 fee received from the Alton, Terre Haute and St. Louis Railway Company, in 1862, is to the effect that it was the reward of services covering a period of four or five years previous. How will he explain the matter of the second fee of $20,000, received early in the year following his income return of $7,118, for services which were absolutely concluded in 1862? The sum to be accounted for is now swollen to $40,000, as follows: $10,000 received in October, 1862; $10,000 in November, 1862; and $20,000 in April, 1863; and yet on the 26th day of December, 1863, Mr. TILDEN called GOD to witness that his income for the year 1862 was only $7,118!" If the above is fully verified, it darkens TILDEN's case terribly.

THE prospects now are, that the Congressional fight, in this district, will assume more decided activity than has been apparent. We shall have several things ot say about it as the canvass progresses, but for the present remind our readers that as Republicans we are in an almost life and death struggle with the Democracy. At such times, we cannot afford to cross party lines. Whatever Mr. HOPKINS or Mr. COCHRANE may be personally, and we are not unmindful of the fact that they have good qualities, they are still Democrats. Their election means just so much toward giving the Democratic party power in Congress. No one supposes that these gentlemen would not vote with their party, in organizing the House; and could they secure control, would not resist the policy that would surely be brought forward by the ex-Confederates. Every Democrat elected endangers the country in this way. On the contrary, every Republican will stand by his party and principles. Major ERRETT is an honest, positive, straightforward man, fully capable of properly representing the district, and can be relied on to do just what he says. A more straightfoward, and faithful representative the district never had than he will prove. So of Colonel BAYNE. Active, alert, intelligent, and positive, he will render the party excellent service in Congress. We say these things in these early, and formative days of the canvass, that our friends may understand just what we think on the subject.

THE NEWS FROM MAINE.

Well, the fight is over in Maine, and the Democratic cohorts everywhere fold their banners in defeat. After all their brag and bluster, and their superhuman efforts, they seem to have come out of the struggle even more terribly worsted than was the case with them in Vermont. At this writing full returns have not been received, but we are in receipt of a telegram from Hon. JAMES G. BLAINE setting forth the general result. Probably no man in the State is better able to make an accurate judgment from the first returns than Mr. BLAINE. He says we have won a magnificent victory, which includes the carrying of all the Congressional districts, and, possibly, every county in the State. So goes the tide against Democracy. We were told before Vermont spoke, that the canvass there had been especially vigorous upon the part of TILDEN's followers, and that as that State had gone solidly for him at St. Louis, all was harmonious in Democratic ranks, and the Republican majority would be whittled down to nothing. Yet the result proved just the reverse. Then regarding Maine it was asserted that "JIM BLAINE" was not so popular as he had been and that the Republican majority would fall below the standard. The answer is a complete Republican victory. The auguries are ominous for Democracy; they seem to presage a defeat more overwhelming and disastrous than has yet been recorded in the party's history. Vermont and Maine and glorious victory. Push on the column.

TWEED REDIVIVUS.

The old Scriptural declaration that "the way of the transgressor is hard" is freshly illustrated in the case of WILLIAM M. TWEED. The story of his hidings and wanderings is not yet known, but the bare facts of his whereabouts and struggles for liberty sufficiently indicate that his is the life of a hunted fugitive. His presence in Cuba during the sickly season indicated that he was ready to face the chances of a terrible disease, rather than risk the chances of prison. But in sickly Cuba he found himself unsafe, the American Consul having demanded his surrender. He then hurriedly embarked on board a sailing vessel bound for Spain, and was arrested on the arrival of the vessel at a Spanish port. Thus his struggles and wanderings have come to nothing, he being practically in the power of the American authorities once more. It seems remarkable that while his confreres have secured safety at one point or another, he, with ample means at command, should not have established himself in safety somewhere. Whether the fact that he was a convicted felon made a difference in his case, we are not informed. But if CONNOLLY can live in quiet in the Isle of Jersey, and SWEENEY and others in France and Switzerland, it seems strange that TWEED was not more fortunate in his movements. His extradition does not depend, it seems, on a formal law, but is a case of national comity—the United States having made a similar surrender to the Spanish authorities at one time. Thus his precautions in selecting a country with which we have no extradition relations proved unfortunate, and is given up on the score of international comity.

Whether these facts will develop a struggle in the courts, on his return, remains to be seen. No doubt an effort will be made to secure his release on a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that he was unlawfully rearrested; but we imagine that the courts will hold that no matter how he came into their possession, he is an escaped criminal, and must serve out the term of his sentence. Naturally, the authorities will be on the alert, hereafter, and whether they colluded in his former escaps or not, cannot do it again. His chance, therefore, for liberty, turns on his securing his release before he reaches this country, again. Whether this is possible remains to be seen. If not, the prospect is that TWEED will end his days in prison. It is, of course, gratifying that he has been caught. He is a criminal of no ordinary magnitude; and the welfare of morals requires that he should be adequately punished. His sentence, as modified is light enough; but now, in all probability he will suffer more severely for his escape. Unless his friend TILDEN should pardon him he bids fair to end his days within the gloomy walls of prison.

TURKEY RAMPANT.

Affairs pertaining to the Turco-Servian war shift and change with the rapidity of a swiftly turning kaleidescope. The peaceful outgivings of a few days past have all yielded before a sanguinary spirit since developed in the Turkish cabinet. The war party have gained the ascendancy, and since the battle of Alexinatz only severe and humiliating conditions of peace are talked about. This is equivalent to prolonging the war, and Servia will only accept the terms proposed when she can no longer struggle against them. In the meantime the Montenegrins, braver and more skillful than the Servians, have fearfully punished one Turkish army, killing some two thousand and routing the remainder. Were Herzegovina to do her share, there would be a fair outlook for the provincial cause, particularly as Russia would evidently supply recruits with increasing rapidity as the struggle is prolonged. With Russia either openly in the field, or with a systematic form of relief provided, there would soon be a very decided change in the outlook of affairs. There is much in the general situation favorable to the idea that Russia may yet be drawn, directly or indirectly, into the war, in which event the days of Turkish power in Europe are numbered.

Among the conditions favorable to Russian interference is the feeling of hostility to Turkey, resulting from Bulgarian atrocities. This feeling has made a decided impression on the authorities in England, and bids fair to entirely control Govermental policy. In this event, no aid will be rendered Turkey by England in any form. France cannot render aid, particularly if it be true that there is an alliance, offensive and defensive between Russia and Germany. Italy is understood to be favorable to Russia, and Austria alone is hostile to the presence of Russia in the war though she is not opposed to the idea she will represent. Thus there is a combination of circumstances favorable to Russian ambition, such as have not appeared before. These facts cannot be without their influence on a Nation always eager to drive the Turks out of Europe. Hence the stern and inhuman course pursued by the Turks afford an excuse for a course that is in entire harmony with Russian policy; and it would not be surprising were the war to be broadened by the active participation of the Russians in it. In such an event it will be of the deepest interest. The purposes of the struggle will be totally changed. It will at once cease to be a question whether certain principalities hitherto subject to Turkey shall be free, and the existence of the Turkish Empire will be at stake. Constantinople is the gem for which Russia has longed for many years.

POLITICAL NOTES.

TWENTY-ONE States will elect Governors this fall.

THE Nation has at last "gone back" on Tilden. Its loophole was not outgo, but income.

IT is observed that people on the fence are tapping their toes a little on the Hayes side.—Cin. Commercial (Ind.)

TILDEN was the sickest man in the Union when he heard that Tweed had been captured. A confession from the "Boss" would be the sham reformer's everlasting ruin.

STATE Conventions this week will be held, viz: South Carolina, Republican, at Columbia, on Tuesday; the Maryland Democratic, in Baltimore, and the New York Democratic, at Saratoga, on Wednesday.

THE Tribune's advices from all over the country are most encouraging. The Republicans are gaining everywhere, and consequently the Democrats are losing. Tilden is bad enough, but the prospect of heavy Southern claims is what frightens the people.

THE call for the Greenback Convention says that "the cry of 'reform' coming from Democratic office-seekers looking for the scalps of Republican office-holders has no meaning." Perfectly correct. Uncle Peter Cooper may be old, but his head is level and his brain is clear.

ONE of the mildest offences with which Governor Hayes stands charged by the Democratic press is murder. They are quite sure he has committed robbery, perjury and other light crimes, and they expect to convict him of arson, burglary, horse-stealing and bigamy before the canvass is over. Meantime they do not make it clear that Governor Tilden made an honest income tax.

GOVERNOR FAIRBANKS (that is to be), of Vermont, said in a speech on the night of his election: "The result of this election, in my judgment, is an assurance that Hayes and Wheeler are to be our standard-bearers for the next four years, and that the principle of liberty, true liberty, as rung out in old Independence Hall in 1776, will be advanced and perpetuated. May God speed the right!"

THE Government, says Mr. Tilden, doesn't live within its income, hence hard times. And Mr. Tilden's assertion is accepted by some and consented to by more, and figures in all Democratic argument. The facts are that the maximum debt over cash on hand was $2,757,689,571.43 in August, 1865. Last August the debt, including greenbacks and all forms of obligation, was $2,098,301,311 over cash—showing a reduction in spite of hard times of $659,388,260.37. Mr. Tilden's charge and all forms in which it has been and may be repeated, are answered by these facts.

The Man to Live Long.

He has a proper and well proportioned stature, without, however, being to tall. He is rather of a middle size and somewhat thick-set. His complexion is not too florid; at any rate, too much ruddiness in youth is not a sign of longevity. His hair approaches to the fair rather than to the black. His skin is strong, but not rough. His head is not too big; his shoulders are round rather than flat; his neck is not too long; his abdomen does not project; his hands are large, but not too deeply cleft; his foot is rather thick than long, and his legs are firm and round. He has a broad, arched chest, a strong voice, and the faculty of retaining his breath for a long time without difficulty. There is harmony in all his parts. His senses are good, but not too delicate; his pulse is slow and regular; his stomach is excellent; his appetite good and digestion easy. The joys of the table are to him of importance; they tune his mind to serenity, and his soul partakes in the pleasure which they communicate. He does not eat merely for the sake of eating, but each meal is an hour of daily festivity. He eats slowly and has not too much thirst, the latter being always a sign of rapid self-consumption. He is serene, loquacious, active, susceptible of joy, love, and hope, but insensible to the impressions of hatred, anger and avarice. His passion never becomes violent or destructive. If he ever gives way to anger he experiences rather a useful glow of warmth, an artificial and gentle fever without an overflow of the bile. He is also fond of employment, particularly calm meditation and agreeable speculations. He is an optimist, a friend to nature and domestic felicity. He has no thirst after honor or riches, and banishes all thought of to-morrow.

Flower Worshippers.

Dr. George Birdwood writes in the Athenæum: Very beautiful is the Persian's love for flowers. In Bombay I found the Parsees use the Victoria Gardens chiefly to walk in, "to eat the air"—"to take a constitutional," as we say. Their enjoyment of it was heartily animal. The Hindu would stroll unsteadily through it, attracted from flower to flower, not by its form or color, but its scent. He would pass from plant to plant, snatching at the flowers and crushing them between his fingers, and taking stray sniffs at the end of his fingers as if he were taking snuff. His pleasure in the flowers was utterly sensual. Presently, a true Persian, in flowing robe of blue, and on his head his sheep-skin hat,

> Black, glossy, curl'd, the fleece of Kar-Kul, would saunter in, and stand and meditate over every flower he saw, and always as if half in vision. And when at last the vision was fulfilled, and the ideal flower he was seeking found, he would spread his mat and sit before it until the setting of the sun, and then pray before it, and fold up his mat again and go home. And the next night, and night after night, until that particular flower faded away, he would return to it, and bring his friends in ever-increasing troops to it, and sit and sing and play the guitar or flute before it, and they would all together pray there, and after prayer still sit before it, sipping sherbet and talking the most hilarious and shocking scandal late into the moonlight; and so again and again, every evening, until the flower died. Sometimes, by way of a grand finale, the whole company would suddenly rise before the flower and serenade it, together with an ode from Hafiz, and depart.

Getting the Capacity.

Many of the excursionists in town yesterday boarded the street cars to secure a more extended view of the city. One of them, a fatherly-looking man of fifty, took a seat on a Woodward avenue car, but after two or three minutes pulled a pocket tape-line from his coat-tails and began taking the dimensions of the car. When he had secured the length, breadth and height he made some figures on a piece of paper. He wasn't through yet when one of the passengers inquired:

"Going to build a car like this?"

"No, sir, I hain't going to build a car like this. I was figuring on how it would do for a corn-crib. It would hold exactly thirty-four bushels of corn in the ear, and I'll bet $10 on it."

He was going to measure it as an oat bin, and had asked a lady to hold the end of the tape-line, when the driver called upon him to sit down. The man sat down, but after two or three minutes he got mad and called out:

"You needn't be so durned crusty about it! If you think I'm obliged to ride on this car to please you you're badly mistaken! I'm going to git off, and don't you dare touch me!"

He stepped off, and when he heard the passengers laughing he shook both fists at the car as long as it remained in sight.

An Absurdity.

"LEAVE the table and go to your room, sir," exclaimed a Burlington parent to his incorrigible son, "and I'll come up and attend to your case after supper." "Father," replied the youthful Tildenite, "it is absurd to fix a date without making the necessary preparations."—Burlington Hawkeye.

DEAD IN A BARN.

A Blighted and Ruined Life—The Son of Hamilton, the Painter, Marries a Fair Domestic, and is Discarded—A Romantic Tale and a Sad Ending.

In the wide-creviced loft of a little frame-built barn near Harrowgate lane, Mrs. David Hamilton, a child of eighteen years, with a one-year-old baby on her breast and her husband by her side, died at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning of last week. The girl's death would have caused no unusual comment had not her history and the circumstances under which she breathed her last been of a somewhat peculiar character. The suburb of Frankford, though a goodly-sized settlement, and though separated from the city by but a few squares of green fields and fence-rails, possesses many of the characteristics of a little country village, and therefore but a few hours had elapsed after the death of Mrs. Hamilton when nigh every man, woman and child in Frankford was acquainted with the death in the barn at Harrowgate lane, one mile away. The information, however, though coming such a short distance, had been materially added to in its travels, and when it had been freely circulated through the settlement the imagination of the grocery gossips and the tavern loungers had so changed the tale that it was currently reported and fondly believed by all Frankford, aching for a sensation, that the girl had been poisoned by her husband and afterwards starved to death. Though Mrs. Hamilton's death has connected with it no such tragic surroundings, the history of her life possesses elements of romance sufficiently interesting to form the basis of a first-class novel. Three years ago James Hamilton, the painter celebrated for his happy treatment of marine views, lived in Stella avenue, near Frankford road. A girl named King, whose father and mother—people poor in worldly wealth—now reside on Indiana avenue, was employed as a domestic in the family. Attractive in both form and feature, the girl—she was then but 15 years of age—drew the attention of David Hamilton, the son of her employer, and at that time a young man but 20 years of age.

THE CONFESSIONS OF ROMEO.

Young Hamilton did not conceal his admiration for the fair domestic, and she in turn, seeing no reason why a wealthy parent should object to calling her daughter, received her admirer's attentions and accepting his pledges of eternal fidelity about two and a half years ago, and shortly after the death of James Hamilton's wife Miss King and young David Hamilton were secretly married. A short time afterwards the mesalliance (for such it appears Mr. Hamilton considered it) came to the ears of the renowned painter. What occurred when he received the information can but be surmised from subsequent events. Rumor has it that he at once announced his intention of discarding his son and the latter's newly-made bride. At all events, young Hamilton and his wife rented a little dwelling on a little street below Harrowgate lane and below Kensington avenue, and there they resided until a few weeks past. The youthful husband had tried to infuse the same life into a brush as lay in his father's power to do, but his efforts in that direction gave no promise of future fame and fortune. He had learned the trade of a machinist, and to this pursuit he for a time devoted himself. Employment, however, was hard to obtain, and in a short time he found himself with nothing to do. A year since, and two years after the death of the wife of James Hamilton, that gentleman led another blushing bride to the altar, and this, it is but fair to suppose, did not render him anxious to again have the pleasure of his son's company and to heal the breach that the young domestic's marriage had caused between father and son. Young Hamilton, however, tried hard to support his wife and babe that, about that time, appeared upon the scene. Any opportunity that gave him a chance to earn an honest penny he gladly embraced, and by frugality and hard work the pair secured a living. Knowing, as he must, the straits his son was put to, James Hamiltons with his second wife, who is also, it is said, an artist of some repute, left this city and went to California, where they are now engaged in the duties of their profession.

YOUNG HAMILTON'S STRUGGLE.

Young Hamilton's struggle was a desperate one, but he was obliged to succumb. The landlord clamored for rent; the household treasury was dry. The landlord threatened to turn baby and all into the street. To avoid this, what few shattered relics remained of the household furniture were placed in a little barn in the rear of Mr. Sullivan's house, on Kensington avenue, near Harrowgate lane, and the family went to live with a family residing down town—some say young Hamilton's grandfather. What was the disturbing element here can only be surmised, but two or three days after the removal from Harrowgate David Hamilton, with his wife and child, returned and took up their quarters in the little low-roofed lot over Mr. Sullivan's barn. The only approach to the lowly dwelling place was up a ladder, absolutely perpendicular, and through a hole large enough to admit of the passage of none but persons unused to aldermanic fare. The bedstead of the Hamilton household could not be erected in the new apartment, so low was the roof, and so upon a mattress thrown upon the floor, the girl mother, with her babe upon her breast, lay down to die. Around her was nothing but bare, unpainted walls of unplaned pine, through the crevices in which the sunshine and the rain trickled, a brief expanse of unswept flooring and the few remnants of her household goods—a half dozen antiquated cane-seated chairs—most of them with the cane seats long missing—and a little, cunning, old-time cradle, in which baby crowed and kicked and answered his mother's moans with gleeful purrs. Mrs. David Hamilton lived in her barn-dwelling for ten days, and on Tuesday morning at two o'clock she died.

THE CAUSE OF DEATH.

The immediate cause of death the doctors said was cholera morbus, but a frailer constitution than hers would have succumbed much sooner under misfortune's heavy blows and the lack of that care and treatment that money alone can command. The rumors concerning the girl's death were of such a character that the Coroner took cognizance of the matter, but, after an investigation, decided that an inquest was not necessary. Even after death the body of the great painter's daughter-in-law was at first denied a proper place in which it could be prepared for interment. Mrs. King, the poor girl's mother, does not appear on the scene during the couple's misfortunes until two days before Mrs. David Hamilton's death, when she mounted to the loft and her voice was shortly afterwards heard in tones loud and bitter. When the body was brought to her door it is said she refused to receive it, but afterwards permitted it to be brought in. During his wife's sickness David Hamilton never deserted her, but means he could not command; and so, while his father was placing upon canvass the poetry of a Californian view, his wife lay dead in a garret. By Mrs. Hamilton's bed was a pile of unframed pieces of canvas, views and portraits, some but sorry daubs, others possessing elements of merit, and most all of them the work of her young husband's hand and brush, but placed above all was one framed in four pieces of unplaned wood, a high cliff, a rocky coast, the sea reaching far away and fragments of ice blocking up a portion of the shore. Its place, as a family treasure, had outlived a father's displeasure. The back bore the following: "Lynn, Massachusetts; James Hamilton."—Phila. Times.

Women as Architects.

It is certainly settled that a most useful and proper business for women is that of a house architect. No one knows as well the advantages and disadvantages of the arrangements of the interior of houses, and the hundred little things thought trivial by a man, by a woman are known to be important. She knows the steps it saves to have the store-room in the right place, how much breakage is consequent on the want of a proper china closet; the inconvenience of having the closet door open on the wrong side, and the trouble in having the hooks too high. When a man builds a house for himself, and his wife helps to plan it, every woman who succeeds her in it takes comfort in the little conveniences, which though seeming almost trivial, are of great importance to the housekeeper.—New Century for Women.

SEPTEMBER.

O Golden month! How high thy gold is heaped!
The yellow birch-leaves shine like bright coins strung
On wands; the chestnut's yellow pennons tongue
To every wind its harvest challenge. Steeped
In yellow still lie fields where wheat was reaped;
And yellow still the corn sheaves stacked among
The yellow gourds, which from the earth have wrung
Her utmost gold. To highest boughs hath leaped
The purple grape—last thing to ripen—late
By very reason of its precious cost.
Oh, Heart, remember, vintages are lost
If grapes do not for freezing night-dews wait;
Think, while thou sun'st thyself in Joy's estate,
Mayhap thou canst not ripen without frost!

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, September 12, 1876.

Monday is usually busy as settling day, but this aside, it was of not much consequence, as a day of business activity, yesterday. The rainy character of the day, and murky, humid atmosphere when it did not rain, gave a quietus to all business that was not a downright necessity. In all directions, the activity of the previous two or three days was not maintained yesterday. The abominable weather probably had much to do in checking transactions, and confining them mainly to counter business. It was a quiet, if not in fact a dull, day. The offerings of paper for discount were comparatively small in number and amounts far below the means and the wishes of bankers. Discount rates, however, are unchanged, viz.: 8a10 per cent. to customers, with concessions on large loans with "gilt-edged" collaterals of 1a2 per cent. by some of the banks.

MANAGEMENT OF SAVINGS BANKS.

The New York Times in a sensible article on Savings banks argues that peculation would be much reduced if the Directors received salaries for their services, and were thus made to look upon their work as real business, and not as merely honorary, or—as is too often the case—as a means of helping friends. It holds that this is the remedy for the evils in Savings banks management. It says: "The remedy must be sought in making the Trustees more directly responsible than they are at present. Of course, so long as Trustees or Directors are not paid for their services, this would be impossible, as no man of business would run the risk. At present Trustees are only allowed fees under special conditions, such as when they have been engaged in any special work for the bank which has necessitated their regular attendance at the offices. Of course, as Trustees, many men turn the savings banks to profitable use, and, under the guise of disinterested philanthropists, speculate with the money of the depositors. If a Trustee is indirectly interested in real estate, for example, or wants to help a friend to a load on easy terms, his position in the Board of Directors enables him to do this with great ease. His sense of responsibility is weakened when his sense of honor is dead, and he drifts into the tortuous groove of an unprincipled speculator. Again, when Trustees do not pay close attention daily to the details of the office, "confidential Cashiers" and able Secretaries find plenty of work for thieving hands to do, and we know from sad experience that, in connection with savings banks particularly, a frightful amount of swindling has been going on of late. The carelessness and incapacity of Trustees have encouraged peculation by making it simple, and in some cases safe. Trustees should be paid, and held responsible. They should be men of good means and above suspicion."

TRADE REVIVAL.

Putting together all these facts, with the further fact that in a wide range of other articles in which no rise has been established there is a healthy firmness, they must be regarded as amounting to a very satisfactory symptom of the condition of business. They indicate that, after three years during which consumption has fallen behind supply, the demand is getting an important ascendancy. It is this very condition of things for which we have so long been waiting as the turning point of the depression; and now that it has come we may expect a restoration of trade to its usual activity. There is nothing that so helps to instil a buoyant feeling into business as an upward movement in prices.—Boston Globe.

NEW YORK, September 11, 1876.

Money 1½@2; prime mercantile paper 4@6. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $44,000. The customs receipts mere $420,000. The clearings were $31,000,000. Sterling was dull at 483@485. Gold was weak and closed at the lowest point of the day. The price opened at 110¼, advanced to 110⅜, and fell off to 110. The borrowing rates were flat and 1, ½, 1½ and 2½ per cent., and the carrying rates ½, 2, 1½ and 1 per cent. Governments were active and steady. Railroad bonds were firm in tone this afternoon. North Missouri firsts advanced from 98½ to 98¾. Chicago & Northwestern consolidated coupon gold bonds sold at 94½@94¾, and Milwaukee & St. Paul consolidated sinking funds at 89½. State bonds were quiet and steady, except Tennessees, which are lower. The stock market opened weak and lower, especially for coal shares, which declined from 1 to 5 per cent. Delaware & Hudson canal fell from 75 to 70 regular and to 67 seller sixty, Western Union from 70⅝ to 70, Michigan Central from 41 to 39¾, Lake Shore from 52½ to 51, St. Paul from 31⅞ to 31¼, preferred from 65½ to 65⅜, Ohios from 11⅞ to 11⅛, and Missouri Pacific from 2 to 1½.

At the second call a steadier tone prevailed, and prices showed a recovery of ¼ to 1½ per cent. In late afternoon dealings stocks were generally higher. Lake Shore was firm, and recovered from 50⅞ to 51⅜, with the last sales at 51½. Michigan Central rallied from 39⅜ to 40¼, and closed at 39⅞. Rock Island advanced 1 per cent., selling up to the closing at 105⅝. St. Paul preferred rose to 66, Northwest preferred to 61¼, and Western Union to 70¼. The market closed active, with a better feeling.

The deliveries of stocks to-day were made with considerable irregularity, the market being so much oversold. Coal stocks commanded a large bonus for use. Michigan Central loaned at ¼@1-32 per cent. The transactions at the Stock Exchange aggregated 141,000 shares, of which 1,300 were Rock Island, 2,000 St. Pauls, 7,500 Western Union, 59,000 Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, 11,500 New Jersey Central, and 9,000 Michigan Central.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, September 11, 1876.

General business has been rather better during the past week, and a more cheerful and hopeful feeling appears to be gaining ground in commercial articles. The Grain markets have been more active and with light stocks, prices are hardening. Coffee is moving more freely and firmer, while Sugars are easier, with a decline on refined goods. There is a continued steady demand for the Hog products, but no important change in prices recently. Butter and Eggs in better demand, and there has been a sharp advance on the latter during the past week. Cheese decidedly firmer and higher, with an increasing demand. Wool continues firm, and the stock in first hands in this section of the country is pretty well reduced.

ALE—There is no change to note in prices and trade is generally reported dull, like everything else, affected by the hard times. X $8 ⅌ bbl to the city and $9 to country; XX $10; India $11. half bbls in proportion.

ASHES—Common Soda (48 ⅌ cent.) 2¾a3c; Refined do. (58 ⅌ cent.) 3½a4c; Pearls, 7½c; Potash, 6½c; Fluor Spar, 2; Arsenic, 5c; Black Lead, 4c.

APPLES—The supply, although not large, is sufficient to meet the present demand; no improvement in prices; we continue to quote in a jobbing way at $1a1,50 ⅌ bbl for fair to choice. Farmers are now bringing in almost enough to supply immediate wants, hence commission men continue to discourage consignments, as current rates would not much more than pay cost of transportation and commissions.

BELTING—The market for this article remains steady, and the demand is now confined chiefly to that made from good bark tanned Leather, most parties having found that the several patent and chemical tannages of leather for belting purposes, at the lower prices at which such are sold, are dearer in the end. We quote:

Inch.	Per Foot	Inch.	Per Foot
1	$ 06	5	$ 54
1½	12	5½	60
2	18	6	66
2½	24	7	78
3	30	8	90
3½	36	10	1 14
4	42	12	1 38
4½	48	14	1 62

Discount 15 to 30 per cent. as to quality and quantity.

BEESWAX—There is a good steady demand at 30c in lots and 35c ⅌ lb in a jobbing way.

BRUSHES—White Scrubbing, $10a11 ⅌ gross Gray, $11a20; White Bristle, $22a36; Shoe, $12a30; Horse (wood backs) $22a66; Horse (leather backs) $45a135; Extra white-wash, $36a75; Common do, $24a60.

BROOM HANDLES—We quote in a jobbing way:

No 1 Plain	$16 00	⅌ thousand
No 1 Painted	24 00	do
Toy Painted	12 50	do

BROOMS—The demand is brisk at the recent decline, and manufacturers report plenty of orders. We quote "Union" factory as follows:

No 1 Hurl—plain handle	$1,50
No 2 Hurl do	1,75
No 3 Hurl—painted	2,00
No 4 Hurl do	2,50
No 5 Hurl	2,75
No 6 Hurl	3,00
No 2 carpet—velvet finish	3,25
No 4 carpet do	3.50
No 5 carpet do	3,75
No. 3 Fancy Parlor	4 00
No. 4 Fancy Parlor	4 25
No. 6 Parlor	4 50
Wisps (6, 8 and 10 inch)	1 25a1 50
Toy Brooms	1 25a1 50

BEANS—The supply of old, although not large, is considerably in excess of present wants, which are exceedingly small; prices nominal at 90ca$1 ⅌ bushel.

BUTTER—There has been a steady demand for prime table Butter during the past week, and some inquiry for common grades by eastern buyers, but prices remain as last quoted. With increased receipts the general tone of the market is not as confident as it was at the date of our last review. Solid packed quotable at 10a15c for inferior to common; 18a23c for good to prime; 23a25c for prime to choice roll, and 28a30 for creamery.

BERRIES—Are about out of season; we continue to quote at 65a85c per bucket. Very few coming forward and not much inquiry.

BROOM CORN—Sales of Hurl Corn in small lots, upon arrival, at prices ranging from 7a8½c, as to quality. Short or medium brush in fair stock and demand light; sales in a small way at 5½a6½c, as to quality and quantity. Insiding and inferior Corn very dull. Some lots offered at 4½—find no sale. Crooked in light demand at 3a3½c.

CHEESE—The market has stiffened up very materially since the date of our last general report; we have advanced our quotations 1c per lb, and the tendency continues upward; we now quote at 9a9½c for prime Ohio factory (August make) to the wholesale trade, and 10a10½ in a retail way. A better quality is now being made in consequence of the cooler weather, and for the same reason makers are now enabled to hold it—not forced to sell as they were when the thermometer was up in the nineties.

COOPERAGE—Best Indiana matched oil barrel staves, $33; do. alone, $30 do. Heading, $40; sawed staves, $28. West Virginia bucked staves, $25; do. rough, $22. Oil Barrels in fair demand but unchanged; countries, $1,30, city make, $1,45a1,50.

CORDAGE AND ROPE—There is no improvement to report in the demand for this class of goods, and no change in prices, which we annex as follows:

Cement—Rosendale $3a3,50 ⅌ bbl; Youghiogheny, $2,00a2,25; Louisville, $2,00a2,25; New Lisbon, $2,25a2,75; Portland, $6,50a7,50. COAL AND COKE—Bituminous Coal quoted at 7a8½c ⅌ bu, delivered, and Anthracite at $6¾ per ton for broken egg delivered. Coke dull, nominal at $2,40a2,50 ⅌ ton, delivered free on cars in Pittsburgh.

DRIED FRUIT—There is no demand whatever for domestic and the inquiry for foreign, is also light; we omit quotations.

EGGS—There has been an increased demand within the past week, and we can report an advance of 2a3c ⅌ dozen; some sales were made on Thursday and Friday at 20c, but since then the market has eased up slightly in consequence of diminished receipts, and we now quote at 18a19c.

FLOUR—There has been no material change in the general position of the market since the date of our last general report. As then noted, there is a firmer feeling manifested on the part of millers in consequence of the advancing tendency of wheat, and some are asking an advance of from 25 to 50c per bbl; however, dealers generally have but little faith in higher prices, in view of the general depression in business; moreover, the white Wheat crop was light in some localities, especially in the northwest, there is reason to believe that an average crop, taking the country through, was secured, and, furthermore, while the spring wheat was saved in much better condition than last year. As stated in a former report, the indications are, that there will be an increased consumption of winter wheat Flours in our market during the next cereal year and less spring wheat, as the probability is that in addition to being of a better quality, it will cost less, a very important consideration in these hard times. During the past year, spring wheat Flour was much more popular here, especially among bakers, than winters, as the winter wheat was so badly damaged during harvest by the rains, that it was very difficult to obtain a good article of Flour; now, however, as already stated, the position of our market in this respect is likely to be completely reversed. Quotations in a jobbing way:

New red winter wheat flours	$5,75a6,00 ⅌ bbl.
Old red winters	6,00a6,50 "
Amber wheat flours	6,50a7,00 "
Old spring wheat flours	5,75a6,25 "
Patent process and fancy white wheat	7,50a8,50 "
Rye flour	4,50a4,75 "

FISH—Following are the current rates in a jobbing way:

Split Labrador Herring		6 75

Lake Herring		2 25

FEATHERS—Sales job lots, 57; repacked, 60a63.

GRAIN—There has been rather more inquiry for Wheat during the past week, and the market is firmer in tone, although there has been no quotable improvement in prices; No. 1 red winter (Penna. and Ohio) $1,12a1,15, No. 1 amber, $1,15a1,18. Our local millers expect to do a good deal more business the coming year than they did the past one, for the reason that the winter wheat was secured in better condition than spring; last year the winter wheat was very generally damaged in harvest by the continued rains, while spring wheat was secured in good condition, but this year it was reversed. The Oat market continues strong, and with light receipts and a limited supply prices still have an upward tendency; quoted on track, at 33a34c, for good mixed, and 35a36 for white. Farmers in this section of the country, who have thrashed, report the grain very light (25a28 lbs to the bushel) and the crop is not turning out near as well as expected before it was harvested; this being the case producers are not as anxious to sell as they would have been, and the expectations entertained before harvest of very low prices are not likely to be realized. The receipts of Corn continue meagre and the supply is light, but there is not much inquiry and prices have undergone no important change. Ear Corn on track, 50a53; Shelled, 52a55, the outside figure for prime Yellow. There is but little Rye coming forward and not much inquiry for it, as distillers are not doing much. No movement in Barley as yet, but now that the hot weather is about over brewers will no doubt soon commence buying.

GROCERIES—Coffee—The market is stronger for Rio with an upward tendency, the statistical position being decidedly in favor of the importing and jobbing trade in this country. The stock of Rio embraces 64,296 bags in first hands, and 125,644 bags in second hands. For the immediate future the bean will appreciate, especially on fine grades, which are scarce; and, until the fresh supplies from the new crop begins to come forward freely, no diminution in values, it is thought, will occur. Java and other mild coffees are not so strong but are firm. Sugars went off ⅛ in the last week, but the market closed firmer, and the belief prevails that a reaction will come and put refined goods up. Some refiners will not now name a price for future delivery, and all are oversold. The stock of raws in first hands is unprecedentedly low, and was, on the 8th inst. as follows in comparison:

	Hhds.	Bxs.	Bgs.	Melado
1876	53,011	27,082	94,872	1,138
1875	129,739	48,637	205,795	17,376

New Orleans Molasses scarce and firm. Syrups are easier. Rice depressed, owing to the large supplies of the new crop already at New Orleans, as we notice in a late circular from A. Thomson & Co., rice and sugar merchants there. They estimate the current crop at 160,000 bbls. Spices steady. Teas firm.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, September 11, 1876.

The market for Crude opened firm and continued so all day, with prices a shade higher at the close. United certificates were quoted this P. M. at $3,30. There appears to be little or no demand for shipment, hence it is difficult to quote correctly. Refined also firm and higher. Philadelphia and Baltimore quoted at 26a26¼, equal to 22¾a23 on cars here. We heard of an offer to buy 15,000 barrels Baltimore delivery at 26c. Price to home trade unchanged at 23c, but the market is very firm.

Oil Barrels quiet and unchanged; countries, $1,30; city make, $1,45a1,50, as to size.

ALLEGHENY LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, September 11, 1876.

CATTLE.

There was a full average supply on sale, and the market was generally reported a little draggy, for which several reasons were assigned; one was the rain and mud, but the most important, we apprehend, was the disposition on the part of holders to push up prices. The Chicago bought cattle (16 cars), cost considerably more than those of last week, and sellers could not but demand more money, and, as a rule, they were successful in obtaining an advance of from 10 to 15c per cwt. The Ohio and Penna. cattle, of which the remainder consisted, while they did not bring any better rates, made more money for their owners than the Chicago cattle, as they did not cost any more. The fact is there has been little or no margin in Chicago bought cattle for several weeks, and dealers would soon quit there providing they could obtain the kind of cattle suitable for this market elsewhere.

Sales were reported to-day at 5½a6c, for prime to choice butcher cattle; 4½a5, for fair to good; and 3a4c for inferior to common; as will be seen, sales were reported as high as 6c, whereas there was nothing reported last week above 5¾, and, while, as already stated, the Chicago bought, ruled higher, there were some finer cattle this week than last, which, of course, makes a difference.

The stock on sale was reproted as follows:

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

There was a fair supply, but with an increased demand, the market was more active, the best evidence of which was that the pens were pretty well cleared early in the day, but there was no general improvement in prices. In some instances better rates may have been obtained, but, from all that we could learn, these were exceptional not the rule, and sellers generally complained that prices here were relatively lower than at the source of supply. Sheep sold at from 4½a5½c ⅌ lb for medium to prime and $1,50a2,50 per head for scalawags to fair. Lambs, 5a5¾c per lb. for good to prime and $1,50a2,50 per head for common to fair.

HOGS.

Were in better supply, and with a light demand, owing in part to the inclement weather, the market was dull and there were some left over unsold. F. Hector sold 45 for C. M. Helmes at 5,90a6.50. Rea & Noble, of Armstrong Co., Penna., had some 92 head, out of which they did not dispose of more than a dozen.

FRESH COWS.

There were about a dozen on sale, the most, if not all, of which were disposed of at fair prices. W. Werntz, of Stark Co., Ohio, sold 3 at $43 each. Quotations may be fairly given at $30a60, as to quality.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

THE stage of water last evening was 7 feet and rising slowly. As the Monongahela was reported rising at headwaters again, it is probable there will be more water to-day. There was considerable rain yesterday, with indications last evening favorable for more; coal men generally were confident of a good coal boat rise, and it is hoped that their expectations will be realized.

CAPT. R. C. GRAY is in Philadelphia taking in the Centennial.

THE Ironsides has gone to meet the Iron Mountain and assist her up with her tow.

THERE are several parties in St. Louis who want boats suitable for Southern tributary business.

IT is reported from St. Louis that Com. Kountz intends contracting for a new mountain boat at once.

THE John L. Rhoads arrived at New Orleans on Saturday. She will no doubt load there for Pittsburgh.

CAPT. THOMAS METZLER, the new wharfmaster at Vicksburg, took possession of his office last Monday week.

CASTELLO'S boat, Hiram Watson, which was sunk above Ironton, has been raised, and is now on the docks at Ashland.

THE Baltic is reported as having stuck part of her tow early yesterday morning, a short distance below the city, but succeeded in getting it off uninjured.

JNO. ACKLEY, who has been down in West Va., gunning for some days, got home yesterday, and will be found on hand in the meat shop ready to supply boats with the best of meats.

IT is probable we will have all the packets at the wharf again within the next week, including, among others, the Exchange, Emma Graham, Granite State, Salt Valley and Carrie Brooks.

THE new and elegant steamer Hard Cash, James H. Rees, master, will leave for Evansville, Cairo, Memphis, Helena and White River, on next Tuesday, giving through bills of lading to Little Rock and all intermediate points on the Arkansas river.

COAL-MEN were busily engaged in getting their boats and tows in readiness to take their departure; a number of boats with tows left during Sunday night and yesterday, while others were holding back for more water. In addition to those reported in the GAZETTE of yesterday, the following boats will get out on this water: Ben Wood, John Dippold, Fred Wilson No. 2, Diamond, Hawk, I. N. Phillips, My Choice, Joe Walton, Tom Dodsworth, Nellie Walton, Gipsey and Bengal Tiger.

THE funeral of the late Capt. Frank Y. Batchelor took place Saturday morning. It was largely attended by members of the steamboating fraternity, hotel proprietors, and the numerous friends of the deceased. The Rev. Mr. Gray and Elder W. P. Stratton officiated, paying handsome eulogies to the deceased. The remains were interred in Spring Grove. The pall-bearers were Capt. Jno. A. Williamson, Capt. F. X. Reno and Messrs. H. L Davis, Hiram DeCamp, Wm. Brown, Jno. Wynn, W. T. Bishop, and C. D. Miller.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

A Couple of Felonious Pittsburghers Captured in Allegheny.

Yesterday afternoon a boy informed Officer Merriman, of Allegheny, that he believed some men were in the residence of Mr. A. H. Childs, No. 18 Church avenue, near the South Common's church. Mr. Childs' family is away at Philadelphia, and the noises indicated that something was wrong. Officer Merriman procured the assistance of Detective Miller and a couple of other officers, and together they repaired to the house. They were rewarded by finding secreted in the garret Frank Rummell and Wm. Gossett who claim to reside on Gibbon street, this city. They were taken to the lock-up and a charge of entering a house with the intention of committing a felony lodged against them.

They had gained entrance to the building by climbing to the roof of the church by means of a ladder, and then placing a plank across from the firewall to a garret window.

LOCAL POLITICAL NOTES.

Progress of the Campaign—New Clubs Organized—Meetings During the Week.

The Republican County Executive Committee will meet at two o'clock this afternoon.

There will be a meeting of Company A, West End Battalion, at Odd Fellows' Hall, Thirty-sixth ward, on Wednesday evening, September 13. All clubs of the West End, Chartiers township, Union township and Mount Washington are requested to send representatives to this meeting, as business of importance to all will be brought forward.

The Republicans of Forward township organized a mounted club, sixty strong, Friday evening. Chill W. Hazzard, of Monongahela City, delivered a very neat address, and at its close three times three cheers were given with a will for Hayes, Wheeler and Errett.

The employes of Clark's Solar Iron works organized a Hayes and Wheeler marching club Saturday evening, and elected the following officers: Captain, P. J. Brown; First Lieutenant, R. H. Jones; Second Lieutenant, Wm. Clark. After stirring addresses by Captain Brown, Lieutenant Jones and John Decker the meeting adjourned with three rousing cheers for Hayes and Wheeler.

The Hayes and Wheeler marching club of Mansfield, Captain Glenn commanding, turned out Saturday evening with 103 men "armed and equipped" with caps, capes and torches. At the residence of Mr. James Brown the club was presented with a flag, made by the ladies of Mansfield. The presentation speech was made by Mr. A. Laufman, and Capt. Glenn received the banner and made a happy response. The affair was a very pleasant one, and a great deal of enthusiasm was manifested.

Republican meetings will be held at the Seventh avenue wigwam and at Liberty Hall, East Liberty, this evening, at which good speakers will be present.

The Grand Central Battalion will meet this evening at seven o'clock, at "Wilson's Hall," Diamond, Allegheny. A full attendance is requested.

Another unsuccessful attempt was made to raise the hard-soft money pole at the corner of Washington and Webster streets yesterday. Four efforts have been made to get the pole in a perpendicular position, all of which have failed. Yesterday it broke in two, and half of it fell across one of C. H. Armstrong's coal wagons, separating the front and hind carriages.

THERE will be a grand rally of the Republicans at the wigwam of the Fifth ward Hayes and Wheeler club on Seventh avenue this evening, 12th inst., at 7 o'clock, when the ladies of the ward will present the club with a beautiful flag. H. J. Gourley, Esq., will present the flag on behalf of the ladies, and W. C. Moreland, Esq., will respond on behalf of the club. At the same time the wigwam will be dedicated, when the following speakers will be present, Hon. T. J. Bigham, Hon. H. H. McCormick, S. C. Fulton, Esq., S. C. Milligan, Esq., and others. The club extend a cordial welcome to other clubs to participate in the ceremonies. Let there be a rousing meeting to do honor to the few patriots who dared to form a club in the midst of the strongholds of the Democracy.

Notice.—For some time past many of our customers have been disappointed in not getting what French bread they wanted at our retail department, No. 18 Fifth avenue. We have increased our facilities and will endeavor hereafter to have a full supply for all.

THE EXPOSITION.

Some Notes About the Big Show.

Blue Monday—Tennesseeans—Children's Day—Some of the Articles on Exhibition.

The attendance at the Exposition yesterday, indicated that it was "Blue Monday" with the amusement-goers and sight seers, as the attendance was not near as large as it was Saturday, or in fact, on any day last week. There was a decided improvement however in this respect last evening, and from 8 o'clock to the hour for closing matters were quite lively throughout the building.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Arrangements are being completed for having a series of children's days at the great show, when the little folks and their parents will be admitted at reduced rates. These days were a very popular feature of the Exposition last season, and we have no doubt will prove equally so this.

THE TENNESSEEANS.

The celebrated Tennesseeans have been engaged and will give the first concert this evening and another to-morrow evening. No one fond of sacred melody should fail to hear these popular singers.

The show is of itself, without any of these outside attractions, one of the best of its character ever opened in this county. It is superior in many respects to that of last year. The lover of the beautiful cannot fail to be pleased with Floral Hall and the Art Gallery, while he who is in search of the useful can find innumerable articles that will please his fancy and engage his attention.

A Representative Display.

The visitor to the Exposition who desires to learn something of the real excellence of Pittsburgh manufactures, should not fail to critically examine the display of glassware made by the time-honored and widely known house of Messrs. Thomas Wightman & Co. Their stand is located in the south gallery, nearly opposite the main entrance, and the display will repay the most careful examination. In the line of glass manufacture our city has long enjoyed a pre-eminence, and this exhibition of goods from one of our first-class houses attests that our fame is well earned. The display may not be so showy as some others in the Exposition, but to the practical man, and all who are interested in the solid material prosperity of our city, it will be especially attractive.

The general run of the trade of the house embraces window glass, druggists' glassware, black, amber and green bottles, demijohns, mineral water bottles, fruit jars, &c., and they have put on exhibition some specimens of each class of goods. Noticeable in the collection is a large cylinder of window glass which is a conspicuous object. The firm have had great success in the manufacture of large plates of glass, and this specimen gives an idea of their work, although it is not equal to the best that has been turned out from the manufactory. Then the fruit jar display will engage the attention of the good housewife and she will do well to examine it closely. All the leading styles of fruit jars are furnished by the firm, but they give special attention to, and recommendation of, the celebrated Mason jar, which is claimed to be superior to anything in the market. Among its advantages are a porcelain lined cap, which excellency will commend itself to the housewife at first sight.

Another part of the display and the largest part, is that given to the exhibition of bottles and vials, for all purposes. There are displayed in various sizes, from the tiniest specimen which stands not more than half an inch high, to the largest size which will hold any quantity of fluid convenient to be carried in a glass vessel. The bottles generally are made of amber and green glass, but there are specimens of other colors, showing what the firm can manufacture to order if desired. While all kinds of bottles and vials may be seen in the display, the manufacture of druggists' glassware is a specialty with the firm. The enjoy a very large trade in this direction. This large patronage has induced them to secure all the best appliances, and to surround themselves with all the facilities for promptly responding to orders for any specialty in this line. They make molds, get up new designs, and manufacture every variety of vials, bottles, flasks, &c., that can be used in the drug trade. They make a speciality of private ware molds, getting up any design required, and furnishing the bottles lettered for any firm or specialty in the drug or patent medicine line. They are now furnishing such private ware to houses in Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, and in many other cities both East and West. Their reputation in this branch of glass manufacture is so widely extended that their business would be kept fairly active by it alone. The house never indulges in any boasting, but claims to be unsurpassed in this line of goods and submits the work to the most critical tests as the best proof of superiority.

We have not attempted to specially enumerate the many varieties of their manufacture, because that would not be possible in a limited article. The visitor to the Exposition, however, will have a general idea of their goods by an examination of the display, which embraces samples of window glass, second quality; window glass, single and first quality double; window glass, double extra large; fancy enameled glass; green glassware, including flasks; fruit jars, colored glassware, apothecaries' shop furniture, flint prescriptions, &c., lime glass chimneys and flint glass chimneys. If, however, further information is desired, a visit to the warehouse, No. 43 Wood street, or to the glass house on the South Side, will be time well spent. A large stock of goods is always carried so that the patron can have his wants supplied without delay. The house is one of the oldest and most reliable representatives of the business enterprise of Pittsburgh, and we take pleasure in calling especial attention to their display at the Exposition, and heartily recommending the firm to the patronage of those in the trade who want to get the best article for the least money. Promptness, reliability, courtesy, and goods unsurpassed are what may be expected of the firm, and visitors to the Exposition interested in glass manufacture, should make a note of their number 43 Wood street, and give them a call.

Hatching by Steam.

The hatching machine next to the managers office is attracting great attention, and no better description can be given of it than that furnished by Griswold, the fat contributor, when the incubator was on exhibition in Cincinnati. He says: "One of the most wonderful inventions of modern times is Prof. H. W. Axford's Incubator, now on exhibition at 129 West Fifth street, Cincinnati, Ohio. Although the practice of hatching chickens artificially was known to the Chinese and Egyptians centuries ago, no machine of modern times has arrived at that perfection secured by Professor Axford, a scientist of no mean order, and who has given this branch of science he is now engaged in illustrating, the study of a lifetime.

One of the principal excellencies of this incubator is the steam that acts in part as the mother hen. It is so retained that the eggs are kept in a proper moist condition equal to what they would be subjected to were they nestled in the nest of a real mother hen.

During the sojourn of this highly interesting exhibition in Chicago, twenty to thirty thousand people viewed this skillful operation. During our visit to the establishment we noticed the audience was principally composed of ladies, who seemed highly delighted at the wonders displayed to their view. We heard one practical matron remarking: "We shall have very little difficulty in getting our eggs and bacon, now, that we can hatch our chickens by steam."

This "glass Hen," as the owner calls it, consists of a glass case, and any one can watch the process of hatching. The little ones can be seen cracking their shells and tumbling out.

The automatic nail machine was entered to-day. It will be remembered that this was one of the novelties that attracted so many curious people last year.

A Rarely Beautiful Display.

Upon entering the Exposition Hall through the main doorway the stand which will perhaps first arrest attention, is that of Messrs. Paine, Ablett & Co. It is located in the main isle, about one hundred feet from the entrance and directly in front of the large fountain. The firm have fitted up their space with rare taste, and they well merit the encomiums universally passed upon their display. Upon a low platform which is enclosed by a rope railing and neatly carpeted, are ranged four barrels of oil, representing some of the best brands which they manufacture. Resting on these barrels and forming a base floor, is a large, heavy French plate glass mirror; above resting on glass supports with intervening spaces of about a foot each, are two shelves of plain heavy glass. Upon the shelves and the mirror arranged in artistic order are specimens, in cut glass bottles, of over forty varieties of animal, vegetable and mineral oils, each being ticketed to show the visitor the brand. The display, especially when illuminated at night, is exceedingly brilliant, the reflection from the mirror below and the different colored oils, forming a picture of kaleidoscopic beauty.

Messrs. Paine, Ablett & Co. exhibit examples of all their manufactures but that which will attract special attention are first the No. 1 Wool oil which is known in almost every state from Maine to California. This oil is used in more mills than any other wool oil in the country, and the demand is so great that the firm are now enlarging their works at Smith's Ferry, to enable them to keep pace with their orders. They have a branch store in Boston to supply the New England trade.

The second speciality is the Cylinder Diadem oil which is used on all the cylinders in the exposition. This is the oil for which the firm was awarded the silver medal last year. The firm also furnished for all the other machinery in the building their Crown Engine Oil—no other being in use. Their White Light Olena can also be seen among the specimens, and they are burning at night their Mineral Lard oil—a specialty with them which will stand a fire test of 300 and yet give as bright a light as any other oil. This oil is especially adapted for use on steamboats and in factories where safety and a brilliant light are desired. The collection also embraces some curiosities, such as a sample of Smith's Ferry oil, fifteen years old—probably the most venerable sample of oil in the country; also specimens of California crude and refined oils. In addition to the oleaginous display the firm also exhibit their popular and much sought after brands of Paraffine wax and candles, which are sold in all parts of the country and are noted for their purity and strength.

Tobaccos.

The old, well established and reliable tobacco house of Weyman & Bro., corner of Diamond and Smithfield streets, have on exhibition a large and well assorted stock of goods in their line of trade, including the celebrated Copenhagen snuff, of which this firm make a specialty, and are the only house in the country manufacturing the genuine article. As an evidence of its popularity it is only necessary for us to state that the sales amount to nearly twenty tons annually, and that it is shipped to all parts of the world where snuff is used. This celebrated snuff is packed in earthen jars which are corked and tightly sealed, rendering the vessel air tight, thus preserving the full fragrance of the goods intact for years. The display of Tobaccos made by the Messrs. Weyman is also worthy of notice, as it is one of the finest and most varied ever placed on exhibition west of the mountains. They make a specialty of fine Smoking Tobacco made from the very best selected stock, and prepared with the greatest care, so that to the smoker it has all the delicious fragrance of a genuine Havana. Speaking of segars, we are reminded of the fact that the Messrs. Weyman handle the best article of imported segars brought to this country, and the purchaser when ordering his goods from this well-known house may rely upon getting the very best article in the market at the most reasonable prices. It is a well settled fact that those who handle Weyman's tobacco, snuff and segars has the best that can be obtained, and they are sure to give general satisfaction.

Persons visiting the Exposition should not fail to examine their display of goods and those interested in the trade cannot do better than give them a call at their establishment on Smithfield street. This house was established by Mr. George Weyman in 1822, and through the long series of years intervening it has steadily gained in popular favor, until now it stands at the head of the list.

The whole display, however, without entering into further minutæ, may well be recommended to the attention of the visitor, and he who spends some time at this stand can learn more of the advance in the manufacture of fine oils than he ever perhaps imagined possible before.

Messrs. Paine, Ablett & Co. are among our leading oil manufacturers, and enjoy a very large trade. Their manufactures are all No. 1, and they always treat patrons fairly, giving the best for the money and guaranteeing every article to be exactly as represented. Their office and warehouse is at Nos. 23 and 25 Seventh street, Pittsburgh, and those who need anything in their line will find their headquarters the best place at which to deal.

A Wiry Display

is that made from the Pittsburgh wire works of Messrs. J. R. Taylor & Co., No. 35 Market street. They have secured the space immediately in front of the stairway at the East end. They have enclosed the space with a neat wire fence, and have left a hall in the center for visitors to pass through, and examine the articles arrayed on each side. Visitors are invited to promenade through this space, and critically examine the goods. The collection embraces diamond, crimped and ornamental wire work for gardens and cemeteries, flower stands, nursery fenders, fire guards, riddles, seives, wire cloth, brass, copper, steel and iron wire, and all kinds of wire work and fancy cresting. Prominent in the display are the beautiful galvanized settee, and chairs, upon which tired visitors are privileged to sit.

This establishment dates its origin back to 1842. Judging from its display we should say that though pretty old in years, the establishment is under the control of representatives of the freshest, and best of our business enterprise.

Planished Sheet Iron.

Messrs. W. D. Wood & Co. have brought some fine samples of their planished sheet iron from their establishment at McKeesport. This is the only firm in America which possesses the secret of making this class of iron, and their goods are of such a quality that they are rapidly taking the place of the more expensive Russia sheet iron, which at one time was the only kind known to the trade. Their stand is located under the south gallery, near the west end stairway. The bright polish of the sheets exhibited makes this a conspicuous display. To the practical man who is looking for utility rather than glitter, this is one of the prettiest, as it is certainly one of the most neatly arranged displays in the Exposition.

Music's Headquarters.

There are no visitors to the Exposition either young or old, male or female, married or single, who are insensible to the seductive charms of melody. Hence it is not to be wondered at that the stand of Mr. S. Hamilton, the Fifth avenue music dealer, is constantly surrounded by a delighted throng. Mr. Hamilton has the space in the center of the building just facing the Art gallery stairs. He has put upon the platform several superb specimens of the far famed Decker pianos, and the Estey Cottage organs, whose reputation is world wide. Mr. H. however has not only put the instruments upon exhibition, but has engaged performers who thoroughly understand the art of bringing out the music. The music from his stand consequently divides the honors with the band. The Decker is a magnificent instrument, and when handled by a master such as Prof. Gettings, the melody rolls out in a volume that fills the hall and can be heard in its farthest corner. Those who prefer the low, soft, liquid music from the organ, are delightfully humored when the keys of the Estey are touched. Mr. Hamilton has done well in his display, and one of the chief attractions of the Exposition is the stand above which floats his name.

The Messrs. Rinehart's Display.

In the northwestern section of the main aisle not far from the Art gallery is the display made by Messrs. W. & D. Rinehart, the well known tobacconists. They have arranged their goods in very symmetrical order, and their stand is among the neatest in the Exposition. Their goods are arranged in the form of a pyramid which towers above the surrounding stands and is an object of unusual interest. Nearly all of their samples are enclosed in neat boxes with glass fronts, which give a good view of the contents. They exhibit all their special and popular brands of tobacco, such as "Atlantic Cable," "Navy," "Spun Roll," "Bee Hive," "American Coil," "Straight Cable," "Flounders" and "Straight Coil." Their celebrated "No. 1 Long Cut" chewing tobacco, made from the very best Southern Kentucky and Tennessee leaf, is exhibited, and looks entrancingly beautiful to the veteran chewer.

Messrs. Rinehart & Co., in this display, have exhibited their proverbial enterprise. Their goods are all well displayed, and make a fine showing. We do not wonder that a firm which exhibits such perfect appreciation of the niceties of trade, and is withal composed of gentlemen whose names are synonymous with integrity, should enjoy a trade which compels them to manufacture annually some 450,000 pounds of plug tobacco alone, and that their sales should extend to nearly every State in the Union.

Graff, Hugus & Co.,

the well known iron founders and stove dealers of Liberty street, make an elegant display. They have a very large space on the North side of the main isle, near the Art gallery, and have fitted it up in a handsome manner. Their display embraces principally their specialities in the line of stoves and their celebrated 'Fiery Furnace.' The stoves are arranged on a platform, where they can be easily seen and inspected. All the varieties manufactured by this firm for cooking or heating purposes are here show—from the largest to the smallest piece. Their cooking stoves command the admiration of the good housewife—to whom a good stove is a thing of as much beauty as utility. In the line of fancy stoves for parlors, offices, sitting rooms, &c., the firm exhibits a choice assortment,—such a collection as could only be displayed by a firm which takes a lead in this branch of manufacture. The famous "Fiery Furnace" is known almost everywhere in the land. The firm exhibits a fine specimen of the Furnace, and thus affords those who need anything in that line an opportunity of critically inspecting and learning of its advantages. This furnace is manufactured exclusively by the firm of Graff, Hugus & Co., which should be borne in mind.

On the whole, the display made by this time-honored and popular house is an excellent one, and deserve, as it receives, marked attention from those visitors who want to learn something of Pittsburgh manufactures.

Dabbs' Photographs.

In and around Pittsburgh Mr. B. L. H. Dabbs has achieved such a reputation for making finished photographic pictures, that no one in this community considers a picture of that kind really first class unless it bears Dabbs' stamp. Mr. Dabbs with characteristic enterprise has gone to considerable trouble and expense in fitting up a space allotted to him on the second floor, near the art gallery. No visitor can miss this display, as it arrests the attention of every one. The exhibit embraces a number of plain photographs, large and small crayon pictures, tinted portraits, and sketches in India ink. The pictures are arranged with respect to artististic effect, and really form a minature art gallery of a very attractive character.

A look at this display is a sufficient explanation of the popularity of Dabbs' pictures. No Eastern artist holds the palm over him, and it is not to be wondered at that his rooms, corner of Liberty and Market streets, are so constantly thronged.

The Right Kind of Scales.

We have heard much of the accuracy of the scales of Justice, but we are willing to lay a heavy wager on it that they do not register more correctly to a hair than the Howe scales which are put on exhibition by the general agents, Messrs. Page & Co. The samples at the Exposition are not fancy articles gotten up merely for show, but were taken direct from the ordinary stock in the general warehouse No. 63 Wood street. Mr. M. M. Marquis superintends this display, and his explanations enlighten the dullest visitor as to the merits of the Howe. These scales are all made of the very best material; they are made neat yet strong, and will register to the weight of a grain. One superiority of them is the proportionate bearings which invaluable advantage is possessed by no other scales. The Howe scales can be seen on the first floor, not far from the main entrance.

The "Cliff Mine" Showing.

The "Cliff Mine" is a name that is very familiar to all who have ever had any connection, either remotely or directly with the trade in Terra Cotta Work and Sewer Pipe. The brand of the mine is the surest guarantee of superiority. The display made by the "Cliff Mine" folks has been arranged under the supervision of our genial young friend, the active and efficient general agent in Pittsburgh, Mr. James M. Walker. This gentleman never does business by halves. Last year the display he made was unverably conceded to be the finest in that line, in the Exposition, but this year he has exceeded the former effort. He has a very large space on the first floor, facing the main aisle and not far from the main entrance. The collection exhibited embraces all styles of fancy Terra Cotta work, including a number of beautiful designs for lawn vases, fancy window copings, chimney caps, buttress ornaments, &c., the designs being very artistic and handsomely proportioned. Then there are a number of samples of sewer pipe and chimney lining, chimney rings, fire brick, grate tile, boiler tile, &c., which are turned out from these works. The sewer pipe bearing the brand of this establishment has always been looked upon as the very best by contractors, and hence they are to be found in use in all parts of the country. The pipe, as well as all the Terra Cotta work are all manufactured from clay of a superior quality, and under the supervision of the proprietor, of the mine Mr. N. U. Walker, who unites to practical experience the advantages of a gentleman of cultured mind and keen intellect. The works of the firm are located at Wellsville, Ohio, and are perhaps the largest of the kind in the country. The Pittsburgh headquarters, presided over by Mr. James M. Walker, are found at the corner of Penn avenue and Tenth street, directly opposite the Pennsylvania Company's railroad offices.

The goods of this firm last year carried off the prizes at the Exposition, and any competent man who will take a look at the specimens now on exhibition will readily admit the justice of their award. This display is especially attractive to builders and contractors, and none of these visit the Exposition without giving it special attention.

This firm have also on exhibition the celebrated Portland, Rosendale and Louisville Cement, of which they have a large store and sell at manufacturers' prices. Having lately removed into the large and commodious building--the location of which we have already indicated—they are fully prepared to transact business with the utmost dispatch. The extent of their business and their unrivalled facilities enable them to sell at the lowest prices, respond to all orders promptly, and give the best article to be had in the market.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Regular Meeting of the Board of Directors—The Railroad Question Again.

A regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday afternoon, Gen. Howe in the chair. Members present: Messrs: Dravo, Kelley, Swearingen, McCreery, Siebneck and Beymer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. McCreery, from the special committee on Bills of Lading and Exchange, submitted a verbal report, including a bill prepared by the Baltimore Grain and Flour Exchange.

The report was received and the committee continued.

The chairman inquired if there was anything official from the citizens' meeting requesting the Chamber to appoint a committee of seven to consider the most feasible plan for obtaining a western outlet from Pittsburgh.

In reply the resolution passed at that meeting was read.

Mr. Dravo then moved that a committee of seven be appointed to take into consideration the whole subject of railroad extension and western outlet. The motion was adopted.

The chair declined to appoint the committee, and insisted that the board select the committee.

Mr. Dravo nominated the following named gentlemen to be members of the committee: John Harper, John R. McCune, John A. Caughey, Isaac Jones, Jonathan Gallagher, James A. Hutchinson and John W. Chalfant.

After some discussion the nominations were confirmed.

Mr. McCreery stated that the committee on the Lake Erie Railroad had not held a meeting, and asked to have the committee continued. On motion the report was received and the committee continued.

On motion of Mr. McCreery the reports made to the Chamber of Commerce, on the question of railroads, and any further reports received, are to be submitted to the committee appointed in compliance with the resolution passed at the Citizens meeting.

Mr. McCreery asked for information as to the duties of the committee appointed. He wanted to know whether the committee would give a full and exhaustive report, not only as to the most feasible route, as to grades and distances, but as to the probable financial result or prospects of the several routes.

The Chairman suggested the propriety of the adoption of a resolution of instruction to the committee requesting them to make a full and complete report embodying all the information relating to the matter that can be obtained.

The following was then submitted:

WHEREAS, The Chamber of Commerce has, in pursuance of a request of a general meeting of citizens, appointed a committee to consider the subject of additional railroad connection with the city of Pittsburgh and to report to a subsequent meeting of citizens; therefore,

Resolved, That the Chamber of Commerce respectfully suggest to said committee the propriety of a careful consideration of the practicability and feasibility of the proposed Pittsburgh & Northwestern Railroad; the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, and any other proposed routes offering a connection with the great northern lines, and upon the advisability of recommending to the citizens of Pittsburgh subscriptions in aid of such proposed connections.

The Chair read a communication from A. Niles, setting forth the claims of the Erie Southern route. The letter was received and filed.

On motion adjourned.

Court Brevities.

AN additional waiting room for witnesses is to be fitted up in the Court House.

THE jury in the case of Kate Richter, indicted for being accessory to the robbery of Louis Schwab, is still out.

CHARLES COLE entered suit in Common Pleas No. 1 yesterday, against B. F. Cole, to recover damages for an alleged slander. A capias was issued.

JOHN RODGERS, indicted for selling liquor to minors, was tried yesterday, but the jury had not agreed upon a verdict when court adjourned.

THE Grand Jury ignored the bill charging John Gunchman with assault and battery, and directed the prosecutor, David Lloyd, to pay the costs.

THE bill against Kate Rigler, a little girl charged on oath of Mr. E. Froelich with the larceny of a lot of jewelry, was ignored by the Grand Jury yesterday.

THE will of the late James Claney, of Sharpsburg, was filed yesterday in the Register's office for probate. The document is dated September 18, 1874, and appoints William K. Claney and Jno. H. Silvey executors.

IN the cases of Mark Adams, charged with selling liquor without license, on oath of George Grantz, and D. J. Myers, charged with false pretense, on oath of Nicholas Swearingen, the grand jury ignored the bills and directed the prosecutors to pay the costs.

AN evening cotemporary suggests that instead of imposing a fine of one dollar per minute on tardy jurors and witnesses, that the Court extend its sessions from five and one-half to seven hours per day. A good suggestion, which, if adopted, would save the county about $150 per day during the time the Criminal Court is in session. Judge Collier, during the last session, held Court from 9 to 6, with one hour for dinner, making about 8 working hours in each day.

IN Common Pleas Court No. 1 Mary Jack enters suit for damages against P. Schildecker for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained by falling through a hole in the sidewalk in front of defendant's property on Diamond street. The accident occurred on the 24th of July last, and plaintiff alleges she sustained a sprain of one of her "lower" limbs, and also severe injuries of the side and one of her "upper" limbs. Five hundred dollars damages are claimed.

A BEAUTIFUL EXHIBIT.

The Expositional Display Made by Messrs. Joseph Horne & Co.

While meandering through the Exposition hall the attention of the writer was attracted to a delighted crowd of visitors gathered around a stand on the second floor near the entrance to the Art gallery. A nearer view of the attraction which drew such a crowd developed the fact that it was the display made by Messrs. Joseph Horne & Co. which elicited such marked admiration. This firm have fitted up a stand which is a model of neatness and beauty. The goods are all enclosed in upright glass cases, and are so displayed that the effect of the whole is charming. In the center of the space distinct from the others is a circular upright glass case in which is displayed a full made and exquisitely French lace pattern dress, the value of which is marked at $1,000. The ladies were so absorbed in a contemplation of this piece of workmanship, that all the beauties of the Art Gallery could hardly break the spell.

In the other upright cases, the firm exhibit a few of their special lines of goods, consisting of Hamburg embroidery, laces, white goods, silks, shawls, cloaks, gloves, hosiery, ribbons, &c. The firm complete their display by exhibiting at the rear of their glass cases some fine samples of domestic and imported flannels of all grades, colors and patterns.

One peculiarity of their display was the exhibit of silks. The house has a reputation in this line, unrivalled, and their present stock has never been surpassed. An item of special interest, in this connection, is the fact that the firm propose to give their patrons the advantage of low rates on these goods, and for a short time only they will sell the silks at old prices. The great advance in silks within the last few weeks makes this offer an extraordinary one. All the goods are of the best make, as to finish, quality and style. All who buy now will save from 25 to 33 per cent.

The firm also make a specialty in hosiery, and really have the inside track of any house west of the mountains in this line. Their assortment is endless in variety. No house hereabouts can compare with them in hosiery, and their prices are unprecedentedly low. In the line of ladies and gents fall underwear they are opening an assortment which will be sold at the lowest prices of last season, notwithstanding the recent advance in that class of goods. In the Glove Department their assortment of all kinds is full; their Lace Department was never more complete. Their Embroidery Department as it is now has never been surpassed. In fact, in all departments they have "stocked up" for the fall trade, and their patrons can now find goods in any of the lines named at prices which are astonishingly low. The firm have made their purchases very judiciously, and hence are enabled to offer their patrons an article which they will guarantee, and which they can sell at a price within the reach of almost every pocket. We advise our lady readers to make a tour of Horne & Co.'s retail stores, 197 and 199 Penn avenue, before making any fall purchases.

The services in the "Hillside Mission Chapel," Pittsburgh, conducted by S. F. Crowther, resulted in organizing a Methodist Church of twelve members, but the dedication of the chapel was deferred on account of the rain, and because the chapel was not quite finished.
